Department of Theatre, Film and Media Arts Offices and Facilities

The Department of Theatre, Film and Media Arts Main Offices are located on the fourth floor of the Theatre, Film, and Media Arts Building, 1932 College Road, Columbus, OH.

All department graduate students are granted Buck-ID swipe access to the building and will be assigned any necessary keys. Graduate Associates are assigned to a shared office and have access to the department's copier/printer for work related to their Graduate Associate assignment. Work spaces are also assigned to graduate students without a current Graduate Associate position when space allows.

An individually assigned access code is required to use the copier/printer. The university's Follow Me Printing service for students should be used to print anything that is related to your role as a student or personal materials. You are welcome to use the scan to email function on the department office copier without restrictions.

SECTION 2. ADMISSIONS

2.1 GENERAL ADMISSIONS REQUIREMENTS

Master of Fine Arts in Theatre (Acting)

The applicant must meet the requirements for admission to the Graduate School of The Ohio State University. Minimum University requirements for graduate students are available at <https://gradsch.osu.edu/programs-admissions/admissions>.

All acting candidates must demonstrate their potential by auditioning, either through the University/Regional Theatre Association (faculty representatives usually attend at least two (2) of the three (3) national final auditions in New York, Chicago, and San Francisco) or they may make an appointment through the External Relations Coordinator to audition before the acting/directing faculty on campus. In both cases, an interview will be part of the audition. Applicants should be prepared to present an audition according to the U/RTA Guidelines for Acting Auditions: it must consist of two (2) contrasting pieces with an introduction not to exceed four (4) minutes total time., Applicants should be prepared to demonstrate additional skills upon request and to respond to direction.

Master of Fine Arts in Theatre (Design)

The applicant must meet the requirements for admission to the Graduate School of The Ohio State University. Minimum University requirements for graduate students are available at <https://gradsch.osu.edu/programs-admissions/admissions>.

All design candidates must demonstrate a solid foundation and potential for growth in design through a portfolio presentation and interview. This process can take place at the annual University/Regional Theatre Association (URTA) interviews, at USITT/SETC's annual LiNK interviews, or directly with design faculty. Requests for interviews or campus visits should begin with faculty in the design program and potential students are encouraged to reach out to faculty in their discipline directly.

Portfolios may be shared in many ways, including online via a website, in a digital file shared via email, or as a physical portfolio shared in person. Portfolio content may include examples of work from realized productions and/or class projects and often include samples of research materials, process drawings, design documents, organizational paperwork, and/or production images. In addition to work within theater, applicants are encouraged to share additional examples of work adjacent to or beyond our field which helps reveal their skills and interests.

In addition to sharing a portfolio, candidates must also share a written statement that describes their goals for their graduate program and their aspirations for their careers.

Master of Arts in Theatre (Performance/History/Theory)

The MA applicant must meet the requirements for admission to the Graduate School of The Ohio State University (Minimum University requirements for graduate students are available at <https://gradsch.osu.edu/programs-admissions/admissions>), must have an undergraduate degree in theatre or substantial undergraduate work in a related field; must present evidence of scholarly research and must show evidence of interest in theatrical production.

Doctor of Philosophy (Performance/History/Theory)

The PhD applicant must meet the requirements for admission to the Graduate School of The Ohio State University. Minimum University requirements for graduate students are available at <https://gradsch.osu.edu/programs-admissions/admissions>. They must also have an MA or MFA degree in theatre, performance studies, or a closely-related field, and must present evidence of scholarly research and creative promise.

SECTION 3. FINANCIAL AID AND FUNDING

Graduate students in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts may be awarded the following graduate associateships, fellowships, scholarships, and awards.

Graduate Associateships

Graduate School Fellowships

Kramer Research Fellowships

Other Scholarships and Awards

Applications for awards and scholarships often require multiple levels of approval and must be submitted in a timely manner. Failure to meet department and university deadlines will result in non-consideration of award or scholarship recommendations.

3.1 GRADUATE ASSOCIATESHIPS

Each academic year the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts appoints graduate associates to perform staff duties in teaching, production, and administration. Students who are awarded a graduate associate position receive a stipend and a full or partial tuition and fee authorization for the term of their appointment.

Each program faculty committee recommends students for graduate associateships based on student experience, abilities, and interests. Recommendations for new students are based on admission materials. Recommendations for continuing students are based on annual reviews. Preference for departmental appointments is given to returning students of good standing and to applicants whose admission is completed by December 2 for PHT applicants and March 15 for MFA applicants.

Students selected for Graduate Associate positions will receive an offer letter outlining details of their position and the period of appointment. Specific assignments may be included in the offer letter or distributed separately.

Summer Appointments

Summer appointments are separate from the regular academic year. If funding has been secured, the Department Chair may invite applications for summer appointments if and when funding for summer Graduate Associate positions has been secured. The Department Chair will also select GAs for the summer term.

Reappointing Graduate Associates

It is the policy of the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts that graduate associate appointments will be awarded according to enrollment in specific degree programs. Continued departmental support is dependent upon annual reappointment. Funding depends on satisfactory progress toward the degree, as well as on satisfactory completion of previous GA duties. Maximum years of funding may include university fellowships and GA positions outside the department.

Master of Fine Arts

GA appointments will be renewed for no longer than three (3) academic years, six (6) semesters (preferably consecutive) not including summers.

Master of Arts

Students may receive a maximum of two years funding (four semesters).

Doctor of Philosophy

Students who enter the doctoral program with a MA or MFA degree from another university may receive up to five (5) years funding (ten (10) semesters, not including summer). Students who have received an MA degree in Theatre at The Ohio State University may receive up to a maximum of three (3) additional years of funding (six (6) semesters) not including summer. The department Chair will make every effort to inform students of any changes in availability of GA/GTA funding at least one semester before the change takes place. Funding beyond the department's original commitment will be made at the discretion of the chair and is subject to available funds.

Ending GA Appointments

If, after formal review, the faculty GA supervisor should find that the graduate associate is a) not satisfactorily performing the assigned duties, or b) guilty of professional misconduct, as determined by an appropriate review of such action, the faculty supervisor should inform the GA that a recommendation may be made to the Chair for termination of contract at the end of that semester. The GA and the GA's academic advisor must be informed of this decision no later than the seventh (7th) week of that semester. If the GA wishes to appeal this decision, a written petition may be made within a week of submission of recommendation, for a review by the Chair and the faculty advisor.

More information on Graduate Associate positions is available in Section 9 of the Graduate School Handbook and Section 8 of this handbook.

3.2 GRADUATE SCHOOL FELLOWSHIPS

University Fellowships

Each year the area faculty nominates highly qualified new applicants for university fellowships to the Director of Graduate Studies. University Fellowships are awarded by the Graduate School at The Ohio State University. Graduate fellows must pursue a full-time schedule of courses, research, or both, totaling 12 credit hours per semester. Detailed information about University Fellowships is available at <https://gradsch.osu.edu/funding/fellowships>.

Presidential Fellowships

The Graduate Studies Committee nominates qualified students for university-wide Presidential Fellowships, which are open to students in their completing years of the MFA or PhD programs. Nominations come from student advisors, not individual students. The Graduate School awards Presidential Fellowships and manages all related deadlines and guidelines. MFA acting students, MFA design students, and Performance/History/Theory PhD students may be invited by their advisors to submit a five-page proposal, in line with Presidential Fellowship application materials, to the Director of Graduate Studies so that the faculty may rank nominees in accordance with Graduate School guidelines. Guidelines are available at <https://gradsch.osu.edu/pursuing-your-degree/graduate-fellows/presidential-fellowship>.

Students currently enrolled as MA or MFA students are not eligible for nomination for university fellowships upon admission to the PhD program.

Additional information regarding fellowships and other forms of financial assistance may be found on the Graduate School webpage.

3.3 WILLIAM CASE KRAMER THEATRE RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP

The William Case Kramer Theatre Research Fellowship, funded by a bequest from Dr. Kramer, is designed to enrich the graduate theatre student experience with an emphasis on the international theatre perspective. Dr. Kramer, whose research involved international travel and culminated in his dissertation "Gordon Craig: Uber-Director, Major Influences on Craig's Theory and Practice," received his PhD from the department in 1974.

Funds support a research fellowship to be awarded annually to a graduate student in theatre for work at the Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee Theatre Research Institute. The fellowship will provide an archival work experience supervised by one of the curators in consultation with the director, results in a project or product, and is expected to include an international travel component.

Application and Selection Procedure

- In October a committee consisting of the curator(s) and director of the Theatre Research Institute will contact the fiscal agent for the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts to obtain the total amount of funding available for the award.
- Should income in a fiscal year be inadequate to provide travel funds, the income should be accrued until it builds to a sufficient level to support travel.
- If funds are sufficient to support travel, the committee will announce a call for proposals to theatre graduate students by the first (1st) Friday of November.
- The committee will receive and review applications for funding from the William Case Kramer Theatre Research Fellowship and will make a recommendation to the department chair.
- Before submitting a proposal, applicants should meet with one of the TRI curators to discuss the research project and to target collections in which to conduct preliminary research. If the curator deems that the project does not relate strongly enough to TRI holdings, they may counsel against proposal submission.
- Prior to submitting proposal applicants must conduct 6 hours of preliminary research at the TRI in collections suggested by the curator. This is to familiarize the applicant with TRI resources already available to support the research and to discover how the project might complement TRI holdings.
- Applications are due by the first (1st) Friday of spring semester. Proposals should include:
 1. Description of applicant's overall research project.
 2. Documentation of 6 hours preliminary research conducted at TRI.
 3. Description of how applicant's research project specifically relates to TRI holdings, including name(s) of collection(s) explored during preliminary research.
 4. Completed draft budget template.
 5. Proposed timeline for travel and project completion.
- The committee may request personal interviews with applicants.
- Applications are reviewed by committee. Selection criteria will include:
 1. Quality of the proposal
 2. Completeness of the Proposal (includes documentation of preliminary work. budget template, etc.)
 3. Relationship of the proposal to TRI holdings
 4. Relevance of the proposal to the applicant's overall research agenda
 5. Extent to which the proposed research requires foreign travel
- The committee will make a recommendation to the department chair by the end of January.

- The applicant(s) selected for the fellowship will be notified by mid-February.

Requirements for Acceptance

- Recipients of the Kramer fellowship sign up for 1 credit hour of independent study with the TRI Director during the Semester in which the travel is to occur.
- Recipients of the Kramer fellowship will present a summary of their research findings in a public forum within two semesters of the completion of travel, ideally in autumn semester. Details of the presentation are to be determined in conjunction with the TRI Director and coordinated with the Theatre Department calendar scheduling.

3.4 SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

Departmental Graduate Research and Project Grants

Small grants for graduate creative and scholarly projects, including conference presentations, are available through several departmental funding sources. Funds may be disbursed as a scholarship, or as reimbursement or pre-payment of travel and project expenses. In the case of reimbursement or pre-payment of expenses, students meet with the Business Operations Manager in advance to ensure you understand and comply with Ohio State's travel and purchasing policies.

Awards may be made for both future events and retroactively for events that have already occurred within the funding period. Retroactive funding is not guaranteed, but applying after-the-fact will factor into the committee's review of the proposal. Applicants should be aware that they will rarely receive support to cover the entirety of their proposed activity. Retroactive funds may only be disbursed as a scholarship award.

Applications for Graduate Research and Project Grants must first be discussed with and approved by the faculty advisor. Application forms are available online or through the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts main office. All Applications for Graduate Research Support are due on the following schedule:

- 1st Monday in October for events from June 1, 2023 - February 28, 2024
- 1st Monday in February for events from October 1, 2023 - June 30, 2024

All recipients of Graduate Research Support grants from the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts are required to submit a one-paragraph report and photo of the results of their travel grants to the Director of Graduate Studies and the Academic Program Coordinator within one semester of completion of the funded activity and may be requested to make a public presentation based upon work undertaken with the support of the fund.

John C. Morrow Fund (Graduate Scholarship)

Established in 1980 in memory of Dr. John C. Morrow, Professor of Theatre from 1963 until his death in 1979, the Morrow Memorial Fund provides small grants for graduate student research. Grants are made to support research activities and to attend national academic and professional conferences if a student is selected to present at the meeting.

Aida Cannarsa Snow Endowment Fund

Established February 7, 2003, from her estate through The Foundation. Income provides need-based scholarships to undergraduates/graduates with a major or specialized interest in the Departments of Art, Art Education, History of Art, Theatre or Dance. Unused income is reinvested to principal.

The Kirby Kennedy Wyatt II Scholarship Fund in Theater Technology and Design

Provides one or more scholarships in varying amounts to students in the College of the Arts who have demonstrated exceptional talent and ability in theatre and who are pursuing a major in Theatre Technology, in the area of set, costume, lighting or sound design. Income may also be used, at the discretion of the chair of the Department of Theatre, to provide financial grants in the form of travel expenses, conference fees, and exhibition support to these recipients for participation in professional conferences.

Art of the Now

Established November 16, 2018, with a fund transfer by the Department of Theatre of proceeds from the sale of The Art of the Now: Introduction to Theatre & Performance; used to provide financial grants to students studying in the Department of Theatre to assist with travel expenses, conference fees, performance or exhibition support, job interviews or other extraordinary experiences.

Katie Whitlock Memorial Fund for Graduate Student International Travel

Established in 2016 in memory of Dr. Katherine "Katie" Whitlock (Class of 2004), the Whitlock Memorial Fund provides funding to graduate students who participate in the Department of Theatre's London Theatre program. Students interested in applying for support for the London Theatre program should apply for funds the Autumn before the study abroad program takes place. These applications will be reviewed by the faculty leaders of the London Theatre Program, Director of Graduate Studies and Department Chair. In years when the London Study Abroad does not occur, funds may be used to support other international travel for research.

(Fund descriptions above are maintained by University Advancement and may not reflect current department or program names and titles.)

Beyond Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts resources, students are encouraged to seek funding from resources noted on the Graduate School's website: <https://gradsch.osu.edu/funding>.

Graduate students may also be recognized by the University and Graduate School through award programs like the Graduate Associate Teaching Award and the Hayes Graduate Research Forum. Students are encouraged to explore opportunities at gradsch.osu.edu/pursuing-your-degree/career-development.

SECTION 4. GRADUATE PROGRAMS

4.1 MASTER OF FINE ARTS IN THEATRE (ACTING)

The Master of Fine Arts in Theatre with an emphasis in Acting is designed as a terminal degree providing rigorous training in theatrical performance to students preparing for careers in the professional theatre. Extensive training in voice, movement, creation of new work, and acting provide a foundation for student's development and specialization in the third year of training.

General Program Requirements

- A minimum of 69 graduate credit hours must be completed for the MFA (Acting). The area requires the completion of specific classes. Please see the advisor for course requirements and schedule.
- A minimum residence of three (3) academic years (excluding summers) must be devoted to graduate work at The Ohio State University.
- All students must achieve a B or better in each required course. If they do not, they do not pass the course.
- The minimum number of credit hours required each semester is dependent on the individual student's source of funding (Graduate Associate, Fellow, or other). Please reference Section 3.1 of the Graduate School Handbook for more information on your minimum requirements. Visit registrar.osu.edu for more information on registration deadlines and late registration fees.
- Each Acting student will be eligible for casting in a faculty-led creative project each semester during their three (3) years of residency excepting the first semester. Acting students are required to do the general acting audition each semester with a new monologue even if the casting does not require an audition.
- The Acting faculty will meet to review the progress of MFA Acting candidates in classes as well as their performance in departmental productions and independent projects. The reviews are explained in Section 5 of this handbook.
- Students must attend all department and acting area meetings including, but not limited to, yearly orientation meetings, evaluations, and end of the year meetings and celebrations, through the end of finals week. Additional meetings may be required for Graduate Associates through the last day of their employment contract.
- Students who are enrolled at least half-time are required to carry health insurance as a condition of enrollment. Please see Section 3.3 of the Graduate School Handbook for more information.

Non-Thesis Option Examination Procedure

All MFA (Acting) candidates will complete the non-thesis option. The candidate must pass a four-hour written Comprehensive Examination during the spring semester of the third (3rd) year of study. The exam questions will be drawn from the MFA reading list, material covered in classes, and practicum/residency experiences.

MFA actors will receive an initial reading list prior to their arrival in the first (1st) semester of the first (1st) year and will receive additions to that list in the spring semester of the first (1st) year and the spring semester of the second (2nd) year of the program.

The written comprehensive examination will be followed by an exit interview, a time for summation in which the student and Acting area faculty reflect upon the student's progress, achievements, future goals and plans.

4.2 MASTER OF FINE ARTS IN THEATRE (DESIGN)

The Master of Fine Arts in Theatre with an emphasis in Design is offered as a terminal degree for a graduate student preparing for a professional career as a designer in the theatre. This program offers curricula in four disciplinary areas: lighting, scenery, costume and media. In addition to selecting a primary disciplinary area, a student may select a secondary area as well. The rigorous three-year program places equal emphasis on developing skills in design, disciplinary technology, and academic research and scholarship. The program of study contains course work in all the areas of theatre and related fields that inform and enrich each disciplinary area. Because of the equal emphasis given to scholarship and practice, a graduate of this program can be competitive for positions in teaching, designing and/or production.

General Program Requirements

- A minimum of 64 graduate credit hours must be completed for the MFA (Design), including the completion of specific classes. (Required coursework is outlined on pages 21-24.)
- A minimum residence of three (3) academic years (excluding summers) must be devoted to graduate work at The Ohio State University.
- At the end of each of their first three semesters, students are subject to formal reviews of their performance in their coursework and production work by the faculty and staff of the program
- The minimum number of credit hours required each semester is dependent on the individual student's source of funding (Graduate Associate, Fellow, or other). Please reference Section 3.1 of the Graduate School Handbook for more information on your minimum requirements. Visit registrar.osu.edu for more information on registration deadlines and late registration fees.
- Students who are enrolled at least half-time are required to carry health insurance as a condition of enrollment. Please see Section 3.3 of the Graduate School Handbook for more information.

All MFA Design students will complete the degree under Graduate Plan A (Thesis) which involves producing a design(s) for a major, realized production and writing a thesis document that details the process and/or addresses a significant research question.

MFA Design students participate in a Comprehensive Portfolio Review at the end of the autumn semester in the second (2nd) year of study. Upon successful completion of the review, a design thesis project will be assigned in accordance with the upcoming production season. (Thesis projects may be realized outside the department, but such outside projects must have prior approval of the design/technology area committee and the Graduate Studies Committee.) As part of their thesis process, each student will assemble a thesis committee, create and submit a thesis prospectus, write a complete thesis document, and defend their work to their committee. Students should consult with their advisor, this handbook, and the university Graduate School Handbook to help them navigate the process.

Thesis Committee

The thesis committee consists of three (3) members of the graduate faculty: the student's advisor, the director of the thesis production, and another member of the faculty chosen by the student, preferably a member of the design faculty. If the director is not a member of the graduate faculty, the student chooses a third member from within the graduate faculty. It is a student's responsibility to invite faculty to serve on their committee and to have a full committee confirmed before they submit their prospectus.

Thesis Prospectus

The thesis prospectus is due by the end of the third (3rd) week of autumn semester in the third (3rd) year. After you receive your advisor's approval signature, provide a copy to the Director of Graduate Studies.

The thesis prospectus indicates that you are ready to begin detailed work on a specific thesis project. It should be clearly written and focused on a well-defined topic or problem. Typically, the prospectus will be structured to include each of the following elements:

- Abstract: Ranging in length anywhere from a single paragraph to a single page, the abstract provides a short summary of your proposed thesis and area of research.
- Proposal: Typically ranging in length from two to four (2-4) pages, the proposal describes the way you intend to approach the design of the production to support the world of the play, the director's concept, and your collaborators.
- Chapter Outline: Typically short and to the point, your chapter outline should still contain enough information to give the reader an indication of how you propose to structure your thesis.
- Bibliography: Your prospectus should finish with a list of writings especially relevant to the thesis project, including resources for research, other works by the playwright/devisor, etc., in the form of a standard bibliography.

Thesis Document

The purpose of the thesis is to demonstrate professional competency in the area(s) of specialization and to document the production process in a written form. This major piece of scholarship should be developed, produced and refined with consistent input and guidance from your advisor. You and your advisor will need to establish a schedule of incremental goals building toward completion, and subsequent revisions, of the final document. Thesis documents must conform to Graduate School format standards. (See Section 6.4 of the Graduate School Handbook: <https://gradsch.osu.edu/handbook/6-4-masters-degree-thesis>).

Thesis Defense

Students must schedule a two-hour oral Master's Examination conducted by their thesis committee over the materials produced in the thesis. Completion deadlines for theses are published in the Graduate School's Calendar of Events: (<https://gradsch.osu.edu/>). All written and related design materials must be completed well in advance of the oral comprehensive examination. A student must be registered for a minimum of three credit-hours during the semester of completing the thesis and oral examination.

After their successful Master's Examination, students are required to submit an electronic thesis document. Graduation Services can answer any questions about this process. Deadlines for the thesis and graduation are published in the Graduate School's Calendar of Events (<https://gradsch.osu.edu/>).

4.3 MASTER OF ARTS IN THEATRE

Students in the Master of Arts program work with an advisor to build a solid foundation for more specialized study in a doctoral degree program, or for a professional career in an arts-related field. Each student should meet with their advisor during the first semester to develop a plan of study. Because most courses are offered every other year, two-year planning is recommended.

Beyond the specific course requirements, students may select, with the approval of their advisor, a wide range of courses to satisfy their requirements. The program culminates with a thesis in the student's chosen area of research. Please reference the detailed requirements below and the MA advising sheet included in this handbook.

General Program Requirements

- A minimum of 32 graduate credit hours must be completed, including a minimum of 4 credit-hours for the thesis. The program requires 15 credit hours of required coursework in Theatre. The remaining credit hours may be electives completed through the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts and/or another department. (See MA Advising Sheet for details.)
- Students are required to demonstrate a comprehensive reading proficiency in one (1) foreign language. MA students are required to either pass a language exam given by the language department of their choice or take one (1) semester of foreign language for reading at the graduate level.
- A minimum residence of two (2) academic semesters (excluding summers) devoted to graduate work at The Ohio State University is required. 80% of the required credit hours must be completed at The Ohio State University.
- The minimum number of credit hours required each semester depends on the individual student's source of funding (Graduate Associate, Fellow, or other). Please refer to Section 3.1 of the Graduate School Handbook for more information on minimum requirements. Visit registrar.osu.edu for more information on registration deadlines and late registration fees.
- Students who are enrolled at least half-time are required to carry health insurance as a condition of enrollment. Please see Section 3.3 of the Graduate School Handbook for more information.
- A student must be registered for at least three (3) graduate credit hours the semester or the summer term in which graduation is expected.

Depending upon previous training and qualifications, MA students may pursue the opportunity to take introductory, intermediate, or advanced courses in acting, design, directing, dramaturgy, playwriting, or stage management. Since some courses have prerequisites or require auditions, students should check with instructors on the requirements. Students also have the opportunity to audition for departmental productions and to apply for production assignments (e.g., dramaturging, stage managing, directing). In some cases, prior specific course work is required in order to qualify for an assignment. In addition, students may take courses outside of the department to complement the MA program of study, including thesis preparation. Outside courses should be related to the student's individualized program of study.

TOTAL CREDITS REQUIRED FOR THE MA IN THEATRE		32

Thesis Requirement

All MA students in theatre must complete a satisfactory research thesis that explores an aspect of theatre/performance in some depth and length. The thesis can explore almost any issue in theatre studies, as long as it is thoroughly researched, clearly written, and advances an original argument that engages with current scholarship in the field. Some students might choose to revise and submit a chapter of their thesis to a scholarly journal for publication.

Students will be responsible for choosing a thesis advisor by the beginning of spring semester of their first (1st) academic year. The thesis is supervised by a committee chaired by the student's thesis advisor. By the fifth (5th) week of spring semester, the student should submit a written prospectus (normally about ten (10) pages) to the advisor for approval. In addition, the prospectus should include a bibliography of relevant scholarship. Once the advisor accepts the prospectus, the graduate student and the advisor will discuss possible faculty members to serve as the second (2nd) reader of the thesis. This second reader should be selected by spring semester. It is the responsibility of the student to ask a faculty member if they are willing to serve on the thesis committee. The thesis committee can be comprised of two (2) members, the advisor and a second (2nd) faculty member. Additional faculty members may also serve as readers on the committee, if they so desire and the student and advisor seek their participation. Following Graduate School requirements, the thesis committee must be approved by the Graduate Studies Committee. The student should therefore provide a copy of the prospectus to the Director of Graduate Studies, with a cover page that includes the signatures of the members of the committee. The copy of the prospectus is kept in the student's departmental file.

The completed written thesis will be submitted by the student to the thesis committee two weeks before the defense date, and will be defended by the student in an oral thesis examination of one hour. Most MA theses are about 100 pages long.

The thesis must be prepared according to the standards set forth in The Ohio State University Graduate School Handbook: (<https://gradsch.osu.edu/handbook>). Students are required to submit an electronic thesis document. Graduation Services can answer any questions about this process.

Deadlines for the thesis and graduation are published in the Graduate School's Calendar of Events (<https://gradsch.osu.edu/>).

Following Graduate School rules, a student must register for a minimum of three (3) graduate credits during the semester in which they will finish the thesis and take the oral examination.

4.4 DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY IN THEATRE

Students in the PhD program work with an advisor to create a plan of study for a specialty that will prepare them to become scholars, teachers, and practitioners. Drawn from a wide variety of courses in performance, history, and theory the plan of study will include an area of intense specialization and at least two (2) sub-areas of competence.

Each student should meet with their advisor during the first (1st) semester to develop a plan. Because most courses are not offered every year, two-year planning is recommended.

Beyond the specific curricular requirements, students may select, with the approval of their advisor, a wide range of courses to satisfy their credit hour requirements. A doctoral student should regularly take courses at the 7000 and 8000 level, including seminars. Following the successful completion of coursework and the Doctoral Candidacy Examination, students in the PhD program must undertake and complete a dissertation in their chosen area specialty of research. Please refer to the detailed requirements below and the PhD Advising Sheet on page 28 of this handbook.

It is imperative that students also consult the Graduate School Handbook for University requirements related to the PhD program. The details below are in addition to the requirements of the Graduate School.

General Program Requirements

- A minimum of fifty (50) graduate credit hours beyond the MA degree must be completed. Of the 50 post-master's hours, at least 24 graduate hours must be taken at this university.
- Prior to the Doctoral Candidacy Examination, the student is required to demonstrate a comprehensive reading proficiency in one (1) foreign language. PhD students are required to either pass a language exam given by the language department of their choice or take one (1) semester of foreign language for reading at the graduate level.
- A minimum residency of three (3) years (excluding summer) is required, with at least eight (8) credit hours per semester.
- Each doctoral candidate will be assigned an interim academic advisor before the commencement of the first (1st) semester of residency. The candidate is responsible for selecting a permanent advisor by spring semester of the second (2nd) year, if not sooner. This advisor will serve as the dissertation advisor and must have Category P status with the Graduate School (see Section 1.2 of this handbook for departmental faculty who hold this status) and be willing to accept the assignment.
- The minimum number of credit hours required each semester during pre-candidacy is dependent on the individual student's source of funding (Graduate Associate, Fellow, or other). Post-candidacy doctoral students must register for a minimum of three (3) credit hours per semester, and continuous enrollment (Autumn and Spring semesters) is required. Please refer to Section 3.1 of the Graduate School Handbook for more information on your minimum requirements. Visit registrar.osu.edu for more information on registration deadlines and late registration fees.
- Doctoral candidates, with the assistance of their advisor, are required to develop a supporting program of experience, in acting, design, directing, devising, dramaturgy, playwriting, or theatre management, with an emphasis on course-based work. Students may take a graduate course in the production area of choice (e.g., students who have a directing focus may take Theatre 5111 Advanced Stage Directing). Students may also complete a graduate practicum in order to complete an appropriate production project. Students should consult with their advisors for specific guidelines and procedures for meeting the requirements for the production supporting program.

- Any doctoral candidate who has fulfilled the production requirement for the doctoral degree and wishes to participate in any additional productions or research projects, on- or off-campus, must submit the Extra-Curricular Approval Request Form to the Director of Graduate Studies for approval by the Graduate Studies Committee. If such involvement possibly hinders progress toward the degree and/or the fulfillment of the GA assignment and responsibilities, the student may not take on this additional production work.
- Students who are enrolled at least half-time are required to carry health insurance as a condition of enrollment. Please see Section 3.3 of the Graduate School Handbook for more information.
- A student must be registered for at least three (3) graduate credit hours the semester or the summer term in which graduation is expected.

Benchmarks for Reasonable Progress Toward the Degree

The Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts expects all PhD students to meet the following benchmarks in order to maintain reasonable progress toward the degree. Any expected deviation from this timeline should be discussed with the student's advisor and Director of Graduate Students in advance and may require a petition for approval.

- Spring semester of the 2nd year: Completion of all required coursework, with the exception of candidacy preparation and dissertation research credits.
- Autumn semester of the 3rd year: Successful completion of the Candidacy Exam
- Spring semester of the 3rd year: Approval of the dissertation prospectus
- Spring or Summer of the 4th year: Successful completion and defense of the dissertation.

Candidacy Exam

After the successful completion of at least 30 credit hours of course work beyond the Master's Degree (if the MA was earned elsewhere) or 15 credit hours of course work beyond the Master's Degree (if the MA was earned in the OSU Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts), including all required coursework and language requirements, PhD students must pass the written and oral parts of the Doctoral Candidacy Examination in three (3) areas of concentration: one (1) field of intense specialization and two (2) additional fields in which they demonstrate competence. Students will use the examination process to deepen their knowledge of theatre and performance, as well as to demonstrate through their answers to the exam questions that they are capable of doing research in the theory, history, and performance of theatre to contribute significantly to the production of knowledge in their declared specialty and the field.

Selected together with an advisor from within the graduate faculty in Theatre, the selected specialty will be one in which a student intends to develop expertise and national reputation, teach courses, deliver conference papers, and publish scholarly work. Moreover, it will be the main focus for the dissertation. The list of materials to be read and viewed (books, articles, live performances, films, etc.) in preparation for the Doctoral Candidacy Examination should extend to approximately one hundred (100) items in total to cover all three areas of concentration. Formatted in MLA Style, the list must be reviewed and approved by the advisor and the other members of the Doctoral Candidacy Examination committee.

The main area of specialization is on a theoretical or historical subject/topic, from any time period and geographical area of the world. It could, for example, critique and reconceptualize the work of a major figure or figures in theatre history, theatre theory, dramatic literature.

The supporting areas of specialization are ones in which the student will develop enough breadth and depth to be able to teach classes. Lists of materials for both of the supporting areas of specialization will not exceed fifty (50) items. Formatted in MLA Style, the lists must be reviewed and approved by both the advisor and an additional committee member. One of the areas must focus on pedagogy. Dramatic literature (play texts) should also be heavily studied in at least one (1) of the three (3) areas.

The supporting areas of specialization may either buttress or diverge from the primary area of specialization. Yet taken as a whole, the three (3) lists for the Doctoral Candidacy exam should support students' efforts to master:

- A knowledge of representative plays and playwrights from a variety of epochs, cultures, and/or movements.
- A knowledge of the major theories that have informed theatre and performance throughout history.
- A knowledge of how theatre has functioned and performed in past and present cultures.
- A historical and cultural understanding of theatrical production.

The Application for Candidacy must be submitted through gradforms.osu.edu with all department approvals at least two weeks prior to the oral examination date. Please see gradsch.osu.edu for all university requirements pertaining to the doctoral candidacy exam.

The written part of the doctoral candidacy examination is a take-home exam for each of the areas of specialization. It spreads over five (5) days over two (2) successive weeks. The first (1st) week will be devoted to the main area-of-specialization exam. The student will receive a list of questions by email at 9 am on the morning of the first (1st) day and is expected to select one (1) question on which to write a 20-page essay over three (3) days, working approximately eight (8) hours per day. In order to pass, the essay must demonstrate the student's ability to synthesize the depth and breadth of knowledge of the topic as discussed so far by scholars in the field, as well as produce an original argument that could subsequently be developed for successful submission to a peer-reviewed journal. The essay will be due, by email, at 6 pm on the evening of the third (3rd) day.

The second (2nd) set of exams will be devoted to the two (2) supporting areas of specialization. The student will write on one (1) supporting area the first (1st) day and on the second (2nd) supporting area the second (2nd) day, for no more than eight (8) hours each day. The student will receive two (2) lists of questions, one (1) at 9 am on the first (1st) day and one (1) at 9 am on the second (2nd) day. Each day, the student will choose one (1) question from each list on which to write. Responses will be due back by email no later than 7 pm of each day, and need be no longer than ten (10) pages.

After each set of exams, students will print out and make photocopies of their exam responses to give to each of their committee members. Photocopies may be made in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts Mail/Copier room.

Details on the timing and delivery of questions must be agreed upon and circulated to all committee members, the Academic Program Coordinator, and the student. While the exams are take-home, if a student chooses to complete the exam on campus, every effort will be made to find the student an office space in which to write the exam.

Candidacy Examination Committee

The examining committee is selected by the student, with the approval of the student's program advisor, who normally serves as chair of the examining committee. Committee members must agree to serve on this committee.

The examination committee will consist of at least four (4) members of the graduate faculty, at least two (2) of whom must be in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media ARts. Other examiners may represent cognate fields. According to the Graduate School Handbook, "Non-Graduate Faculty members may be appointed to the candidacy examination committee by approval of the Graduate Studies Committee in the student's home program and by petition to the Graduate School. Non-Graduate Faculty are in addition to the required four current Ohio State Graduate Faculty members."

Students wishing to have a Non-Graduate Faculty member serve on their committee must complete the Petition Form for Graduate Committee and Examinations Form available on Gradforms.osu.edu.

After the materials lists are approved by each of the three (3) members of the committee, the student arranges individual tutorial meetings with the committee members in order to prepare for the Candidacy Examination. Each committee member will decide how many tutorial meetings are needed before the examination. The student and each member of the committee work together to review the materials on the lists and establish possible questions.

Doctoral students preparing for their Candidacy Examinations will hold tutorials with the members of their committee in preparation for the Candidacy Exam for a total of nine (9) credits. Three (3) course numbers will be used for the tutorials:

- 8700.01—Candidacy Exam Preparation: Specialization
- 8700.02—Candidacy Exam Preparation: Cognate I
- 8700.03—Candidacy Exam Preparation: Cognate II

The Application for Candidacy Exam Form, available at <http://gradforms.osu.edu>, must be submitted to the Graduate School online with all approvals no later than two (2) weeks prior to the proposed date for the oral portion of the candidacy exam. Section 7.4 in the Graduate School Handbook pertains to the candidacy examination.

Oral Examination

The oral portion of the Doctoral Candidacy Examination normally is held within one (1) month of the written examination. It must be scheduled with the Graduate School at least two (2) weeks in advance (and more time is recommended). Students should carefully review the procedures in the Graduate School Handbook (available at gradsch.osu.edu). The two-hour oral portion of the examination will be given by the same committee for which the student has written. The answer to the written portion of the examination will serve as the basis for questioning during the oral portion. The oral examination gives students the opportunity to elaborate upon the ideas they have expressed in writing; it gives faculty the opportunity to ask for clarification or expansion of ideas, as well as to evaluate the students' abilities to express themselves verbally.

The student is considered to have passed the Doctoral Candidacy Examination only when the decision of the examining committee is unanimous. If the student fails the examination, a second (2nd) examination is permitted only if the committee recommends it. A student may not take the Doctoral Candidacy Examination or any portion of it more than two (2) times. Provided all other requirements have been met, the satisfactory passing of the Doctoral Candidacy Examination admits the student to candidacy for the degree at the end of the semester in which the examination is completed.

Graduate students must complete the Doctoral Candidacy Examination within five (5) years of commencement of graduate studies for the PhD. However, the graduate faculty in the PhD program expects that the Doctoral Candidacy Examination be taken during autumn semester of the third (3rd) year of residency. All post-candidacy doctoral students must register for a minimum of three (3) credit hours per semester whether they are funded or self-funded; continuous academic year registration is required for post-candidacy doctoral students.

Dissertation

PhD students must complete a satisfactory dissertation in theatre performance, history, and theory. The dissertation may involve textual analysis, archival historical research, ethnographic fieldwork, and/or contributions to theories of the theatre/performance. It should be accurately researched, clearly organized, well-written, and make a contribution to current discussion in the fields of Theatre or Performance Studies.

Prospectus

Each PhD candidate must prepare a dissertation prospectus that spells out the topic and argument of the proposed study. Approximately twenty (20) pages long, excluding endnotes and bibliography, the prospectus should provide a basic overview of the field of study and scholarship, the problem and issues to be taken up, the line of argument, and the proposed model of organization. It should also include an appropriate bibliography to illustrate the candidate's knowledge of the scholarship on the topic. If Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval of the proposed research is required, the student should consult with the advisor about whether to seek IRB review before or after the prospectus is completed.

The prospectus must be submitted to the dissertation advisor and the members of the committee for their approval. The student should therefore provide a copy of the prospectus to the Director of Graduate Studies, with a cover page that includes the signatures of the members of the dissertation committee. This copy of the prospectus is kept in the student's departmental file. The prospectus should be prepared (i.e., drafted and revised, as required) and approved by spring of the student's third (3rd) year in the PhD program.

Once the prospectus is approved, the student should inform the graduate studies director of the composition of the committee. The dissertation advisor must have Category P status and the other two readers must be at least Category M. Second readers are selected jointly by the student and the advisor. Nominations for the dissertation committee must be submitted in writing to the Graduate Studies Committee for approval. The student should therefore provide a copy of the prospectus to the Director of Graduate Studies, with a cover page that includes the signatures of the members of the dissertation committee. This copy of the prospectus is kept in the student's departmental file.

Time to Complete the Dissertation

If a doctoral candidate does not complete the dissertation and the oral examination within the required five years after the Candidacy Examination, as specified by the Ohio State Graduate School, they must reapply for candidacy by taking the Candidacy Examination in full, both written (18 hours) and oral (2 hours). The faculty members who served on the first examination can be asked to continue, if in fact they are available and agree to serve. Otherwise, a new committee should be established. For the procedures of the examination, review the requirements for the "PhD Candidacy Examination" and the "PhD Candidacy Examination Committee" in this section. Any off-campus examination will require the approval of the Graduate Studies Committee in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts.

Upon passing the examination, the student is readmitted to candidacy. If the dissertation topic has not changed and the previous advisor is able and willing to continue to serve in that capacity, there may be no need to write a new prospectus. However, this matter is at the discretion of the advisor. If a new advisor agrees to direct the dissertation, a new prospectus must be written and approved. And if any new committee members are added to the committee, they must approve the prospectus.

The selection and approval of committee members is the responsibility of the advisor, but the candidate is then responsible for asking people to serve. Review the section on “Dissertation” in this Handbook. OSU Graduate School rules and procedures apply during candidacy (please review the latest edition of the OSU Graduate School Handbook <https://gradsch.osu.edu/handbook>). The dissertation must be completed within two years. Also, as per Graduate School requirements, a student must be registered for at least three graduate credit hours during the semesters when the Doctoral Candidacy Examination and the Final Oral Examination are taken and during the semester in which graduation is expected.

Oral Examination

A two-hour oral examination on the dissertation will be conducted by the student's dissertation committee. Following Graduate School requirements, a student must be registered for at least three (3) graduate credit hours during the semester in which the oral examination is taken. The completed dissertation manuscript must be provided to the committee at least two (2) weeks before the defense date.

The Ohio State University Graduate School Handbook includes deadlines, procedures, and required forms for the Final Examination.

Publication

The dissertation must be prepared following the standards set forth in The Ohio State University Graduate School Handbook. Graduation Services can also answer any questions doctoral students may have about the electronic submission of doctoral dissertations. Completion deadlines for the dissertation are announced by the Graduate School in their Calendar of Events (<https://gradsch.osu.edu/>).

Doctoral Student Procedures - Final Semester

There are many deadlines and forms required by the University during the final semester of the doctoral program. Visit gradsch.osu.edu in advance of your final semester to familiarize yourself with the complete calendar and checklist for graduation.

4.5 GRADUATE MINORS AND SPECIALIZATIONS

Graduate Minor in Cinema and Video Production

The Graduate Minor in Cinema & Video production allows graduate students to explore creative and expressive possibilities of single-camera electronic cinematography and provide them with an understanding of the aesthetic issues involved with cinema/video production. The minor emphasizes the practice of moving image art-making through creative projects. This program provides a comprehensive study of the varieties of Cinema/Video expression and the dramatic structures underlining the practice of this art.

For more information about the Graduate Minor in Cinema Video Production, visit <https://theatreandfilm.osu.edu/future-students/future-graduate-students>.

Graduate Minor in Theatre and Performance

The Graduate Minor in Theatre and Performance allows students in various fields in the arts and humanities to develop a supporting program in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts that will complement their graduate study. This concentration serves students who are investigating the heritage of drama and theatre in any of the literature and language fields. Likewise, some students who work in the interdisciplinary areas of medieval and renaissance studies, comparative studies, folklore studies, and African and African American studies benefit from a concentration in theatre and performance.

Students can select from courses offered by the graduate faculty in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts with a concentration on dramatic literature, theatre history and historiography, film and video studies, and the theories and criticism of drama and performance. These courses provide each student with a critical foundation in the scholarly methodologies that underlie research and analysis in the interconnected fields of theatre studies and performance studies.

For more information about the Graduate Minor in Theatre and Performance, visit <https://theatreandfilm.osu.edu/future-students/future-graduate-students>.

Graduate Interdisciplinary Specialization in Film Studies

The GIS in Film Studies is a degree enhancement for students interested in developing a secondary expertise in film studies to complement the student's home graduate program. Goals of the program are to provide students the tools for rigorous formal and historical analysis of film, to urge students to think critically about film as an aesthetic form and cinema as a social institution, and to encourage pursuit of interdisciplinary inquiries about cinema.

Current requirements and more information about the Graduate Interdisciplinary Specialization in Film Studies can be found online at <https://theatreandfilm.osu.edu/future-students/future-graduate-students>.

Graduate Interdisciplinary Specialization in Fine Arts (GISFA)

The Graduate Interdisciplinary Specialization in Fine Arts (GISFA) is not administered by the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts, but is an option of particular interest for graduate students in the department.

A programmatic approach to interdisciplinarity among artists pursuing their graduate degrees at the Ohio State University, the GISFA program offers such students a well-rounded, pedagogically founded sequence of courses (even as the program has enough flexibility to be tailored to fit any single student's particular needs), providing a template for what will essentially constitute a "graduate minor" in the making of art that cuts across all arts disciplines, earned concurrently with the M.F.A. (or the equivalent degree in other fields—e.g., the M.M. or D.M.A. in Music) in the student's own discipline.

The GISFA Program is open to graduate students in creative writing, music composition and performance, dance, theatre, and all fields of visual art, including design. There is no admissions process; any graduate student whose admission to OSU was based on a portfolio submission and/or audition is automatically eligible to pursue the GISFA.

To learn more about the GIS in Fine Arts Program, visit the program homepage at <http://gisfa.osu.edu/index.cfm>.

SECTION 5. ADVISING

5.1 ASSIGNING OR CHANGING ADVISORS

All students are assigned an advisor upon admission to the graduate programs. Procedures for assigning advisors are unique to each degree program and are described below. It is imperative that the student and the advisor meet during the first semester to map out an overall plan of study based upon the degree requirements and options. This plan may be modified because of specific developments in the student's course work, needs, and plans, but it will provide a guide for the student to the degree program. Each semester, the student should meet with their advisor not only to select elective and required courses, but also to assess the student's progress toward completion of the degree.

A change of advisor may be initiated by the student or by the advisor. The student must secure agreement concerning the change from the proposed new advisor and current advisor before informing the Director of Graduate Studies and Academic Program Coordinator. The Director of Graduate Studies will review this change of advisor for procedural compliance with both departmental and Graduate School rules and guidelines. If the change is not in compliance, the Director of Graduate Studies will refer the matter back to the student's area faculty for review.

All students and advisors should refer to the Graduate School Handbook Appendix H for more information on best practices in graduate advising.

Master of Fine Arts (Acting)

The head of acting/directing will serve as academic advisor for all students in their first (1st) semester of residence. After the first (1st) semester, students will select an academic advisor from among the acting/directing faculty.

Master of Fine Arts (Design)

A student's advisor will generally be the principal faculty member in the student's primary disciplinary area. Faculty and their advisees will establish a cadence of regular meetings to support student coursework, production work, scholarship and career advancement.

Master of Arts in Theatre

Each MA student will be assigned an interim academic advisor before the first semester of residency commences. The candidate is responsible for choosing a permanent advisor from the graduate faculty in the MA/PhD Program by the third Friday of spring semester of the first academic year. This permanent advisor will serve as the student's thesis advisor. The student and the thesis advisor will then consider possible faculty members to serve on the thesis committee. It is the responsibility of the student to ask a faculty member if they are willing to serve on the thesis committee. The decision belongs to the faculty member. Normally, the two committee members will be members of the graduate faculty in Theatre, but special topics may require additional committee members. Consult with the advisor and see Graduate School guidelines.

Doctor of Philosophy in Theatre

Each PhD student will be assigned an interim academic advisor before the first (1st) semester of residency commences. The student is responsible for choosing a permanent advisor from the Graduate Faculty in the MA/PhD Program by the third (3rd) Friday of spring semester of their second (2nd) academic year. This permanent advisor will normally serve as the advisor for both the candidacy examination and the dissertation. This advisor must have a Category P status and be willing to accept the assignment. The student and the advisor will then select three (3) faculty members to serve on the candidacy examination committee and subsequently they will select together the faculty members of the dissertation committee. It is the responsibility of the student to ask a faculty member if they are willing to serve on the two (2) committees. The decision belongs to the faculty member. Normally, at least two (2) committee members (on each committee) will be members of the graduate faculty in Theatre, but special topics may require additional committee members. Consult with the advisor and see Graduate School guidelines.

SECTION 6. ACADEMIC STANDARDS

Graduate students in all programs are required to have an up-to-date CV or resume on file in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Art's main office. Updated CVs and resumes are submitted annually along with the Graduate Annual Reviews.

Graduate students in all programs are required to attend meetings during every year of study. This includes but is not limited to: orientation meetings one (1) week before autumn semester classes begin; GTA-specific training sessions and meetings throughout the academic year; program-specific meetings, seminars and symposia; general department meetings. Students must stay in town and be available for meetings through the last day of finals week. Students holding Graduate Associateships may be required to be present longer, depending on the terms of their Associateship.

6.1 STUDENT CODE OF CONDUCT AND PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS

All graduate students are expected to be familiar with and observe the Student Code of Conduct and Professional Standards set forth by the University and the Graduate School. Information on the Student Code of Conduct and Professional Standards can be found at studentconduct.osu.edu and in Section 5.9 of the Graduate School Handbook.

6.2 WRITING

The graduate faculty in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts expect high-quality writing from our graduate students in every assignment, from your first moment in the program all the way through to your candidacy exams (for MFA Acting/Directing students and PhD students), your theses (for MFA Designers and MA students), and your dissertations (for PhD students). How you prevent or correct errors in your work is up to the student; graduate school is not the place for teaching basic writing competency. You may make use of peer readers. You may also contact Ohio State's Writing Center at <https://cstw.osu.edu/writing-center>.

Style Guide

No written work turned in to instructors should achieve less than a "3" in all areas of the Ohio State-sanctioned rubric, which can be found in the Appendix of this handbook.

6.3 ANNUAL ACADEMIC REVIEW

The Director of Graduate Studies monitors the annual reviews of all graduate students. It is the responsibility, however, of faculty advisors to conduct annual reviews. Graduate faculty members, in turn, consider these annual reviews in order to determine whether or not students are making reasonable progress towards their desired degrees. A student who does not maintain reasonable progress towards the degree or does not fulfill other Graduate School and departmental requirements may be denied funding support and/or denied further registration in the program. Departmental and Graduate School procedures apply in all cases.

Reasonable progress toward a degree is defined as the timely completion of the requirements of the student's graduate degree program. All students must maintain a 3.00 or better grade point average. The department defines timely completion of the MFA as completion of all coursework and the thesis project within three (3) years following commencement of graduate studies. The department also defines timely completion of the MA degree as the completion of coursework and the MA thesis within two (2) years. While the university sets a maximum of six (6) years for the completion of graduate studies, the department defines timely completion of the PhD degree as the completion of all requirements, including coursework, qualifying exams, the dissertation, and the production requirement, within four (4) years.

For further details, specific requirements and timelines for each degree program, please refer to Section 4 of this handbook.

There are several components included in the Annual Academic Review for graduate students:

- Student Self-Assessment: Part One of the Annual Review Form should be completed by the student and submitted to the advisor with all appropriate attachments (CV, eSEIs, and the signed GA Supervisor Review) by February 1st or prior to your review meeting with your advisor.
- GA Supervisor Report: Each supervisor of a graduate associate must provide a written review of their associate to the student's advisor by February 1. Details of the GA Supervisor's report can be found in Section III of this handbook.
- Advisor's Report: Each advisor must provide a written review of their advisees to the student's graduate faculty area head by February 15. Details of the advisor's report can be found later in this section of the handbook.
- Program Area Report: Summary reports for each degree program with attached individual reviews are due to the Director of Graduate Studies by March 1.

Forms specific to each component of the Annual Academic Review will be distributed to faculty and student annually. The Director of Graduate Studies checks for procedural compliance and forwards the annual academic reviews, along with a written recommendation, to the department chair by March 15. If a student's GPA falls below a 3.0 average, the Graduate School will place the student on probation, with the possibility of removal from graduate study if coursework does not improve (see the Graduate School Handbook). Recommendations may be made for any or all of the following reasons in each category. A student placed on probation has the right to be informed of the DGS's written recommendation. The advisor will provide the student placed on probation with another written explanation which reflects both the advisor's evaluation of the student and the graduate faculty's assessment of the student in the student's graduate program.

Recommendations/explanations are based on academic and artistic progress as demonstrated in oral and written performance and participation in the classroom and laboratory.

The types of recommendations are defined as follows:

1. Proceed

The student's performance meets or exceeds the criteria established within the degree area. The student is making satisfactory progress towards the degree. The student also meets the requirements of the GA assignment.

2. First Warning

One-Semester First Warning Status: the student will be observed for a semester by the graduate faculty area and the Director of Graduate Studies to determine progress toward meeting the review criteria. The student will be provided with specific written reasons for the First Warning and will be given suggested corrective actions. The Director of Graduate Studies will oversee the process, in coordination with the graduate faculty area head and the student's advisor, and will keep the Graduate School informed, as needed. The graduate faculty area head and/or the student's advisor will notify the Director of Graduate Studies at the end of the semester, if and when the first warning status is to be lifted.

3. Final Warning

One-Semester Second Warning Status: the student will be observed for a semester by the graduate faculty area and the Director of Graduate Studies to determine progress toward meeting the review criteria. The student will be provided with specific written reasons for the second warning and will be given suggested corrective actions. The Director of Graduate Studies will oversee the process, in coordination with the graduate faculty area head and the student's advisor, and will keep the Graduate School informed, as needed. The graduate faculty area head and/or the student's advisor will notify the Director of Graduate Studies at the end of the semester, if and when the second-warning status is to be lifted. Without sufficient improvement, the student may be removed from the graduate program.

4. Academic Probation

One-Semester Probation Status: the Graduate School imposes probation if the student's GPA falls below a 3.0 average. A student may be dismissed from graduate study if the GPA fails to rise to 3.0 or better. See the Graduate School Handbook for procedures and rules. The student will be under observation by the graduate faculty area and the Director of Graduate Studies to determine progress toward meeting review criteria. The student will be provided with specific written reasons for probation and given suggested corrective actions. The Director of Graduate Studies and the Graduate School will be officially notified of the recommended probation status by the graduate faculty area head. The graduate faculty area head will notify the Director of Graduate Studies at the end of the semester when probation status is to be lifted. Consult the Graduate School Handbook for more details.

5. Denial of Further Registration

When the student has not satisfactorily addressed the areas in need of improvement cited in the Second Warning, the student will be denied further registration in the degree program upon approval of and notification by the Director of Graduate Studies and the Graduate School.

Academic Advisor Report Guidelines

The academic advisor report addresses academic and professional progress. The student's GPA should be noted, as well as an assessment of the student's progress towards the completion of the degree. Degree requirements vary by programs; see section 2 of this handbook for a specific timetable regarding each program.

Any significant research projects may be cited. For example, if the student has participated in an academic conference, his/her contribution should be noted, with title of the paper delivered, and/or conference session / roundtable participation, etc.

The advisor report comments on the student's creative activity. This may include production participation as a performer, designer, director, dramaturg, etc. for productions produced by the department, and/or locally, and/or regionally.

The advisor report cites three strategic indicators that relate to the student, in the form of notable accomplishments to the department, community, university, and/or to the student's growing area of expertise. The strategic indicators may also include accomplishments as cited by the supervisor's report, which is to be attached to the advisor's report.

The advisor report should also address areas of concern and necessary actions for improvement and/or growth.

The report concludes with a statement that addresses continuance in the program, and recommends an action selected from the following options:

- proceed (all is well)
- first warning – observation for a semester
- second warning – observation for a second semester
- probation (if the student falls below 3.0; imposed by the Graduate School)
- denial of further registration

Finally, the advisor's report includes the student's signature and date, as well as the advisor signature and date, indicating that the advisor has met with the student and discussed the report.

Acting/directing area faculty will meet to review the progress of first and second year MFA Acting candidates in classes as well as their performance in departmental productions and independent projects. In the third year MFA Acting candidates will meet with area faculty for an exit interview after passing the Comprehensive Exam.

Students should complete the self-assessment in Part One of the Graduate Annual Review Form in preparation for each review.

MFA Acting candidates will be reviewed according to the following schedule:

First Review: end of autumn semester of the first year

- Identification of strengths/weaknesses
- GTA evaluations and written results of review forwarded to Director of Graduate Studies by early in spring semester.
- Recommendation: Proceed, First Warning and/or Academic Probation

Second Review: end of autumn semester of the second year

- Assessment of Progress
- GTA evaluations and written results of review forwarded to Director of Graduate Studies
- Recommendation: Proceed, First Warning, Final Warning and/or Academic Probation

Third Review: end of autumn semester of the third year

- Assessment of Progress; Leads to decision on plan for completion of degree
- GTA evaluations and written results of review forwarded to Director of Graduate Studies

Exit Interview: end of spring semester of the final semester

- During the exit interviews, the student and acting area faculty sum up and reflect upon the student's progress, achievements, future goals, and plans.

Following an acting area meeting, in which the acting faculty discusses the progress of each acting student, each student's academic advisor will compile a written evaluation and recommendations of the area faculty together with a summary statement and place these in the student's academic file. The student will also receive a copy.

Each student will meet with the acting faculty to discuss the review and recommendations of the faculty. After the review, the area head will notify the Director of Graduate Studies and include a statement about recommendations on the student's continuance in the program. This notification, along with the individual evaluation sheets, will be placed in the student's academic file.

Master of Fine Arts (Design)

Each student's portfolio will be reviewed formally three times by the faculty and staff of the design program during their course of study. Ongoing informal reviews take place through regular advising sessions.

As part of each portfolio review, students will be given a space to display all their work (writing, drawings, paperwork, projects) for faculty and staff to view. Some materials will need to be displayed in digital form but as much as possible should be shared physically in the space. Students will also provide five printed CVs and will make their current online portfolio available in the space. After viewing, faculty and staff will invite individual students to join them for an in-depth conversation about their work, their progress in the program, and their trajectory going forward. Students should consult their academic advisors regarding any questions they may have about the review.

Schedule:

First Review: The first review occurs at the end of autumn semester of the first year of study. This provides an opportunity for review of a student's entrance portfolio and all their work produced in their first semester (papers, projects, and research activities). The review notes areas of strength and/or weakness that should be addressed during the course of study.

Second Review: At the end of spring semester of the first year of study, a second portfolio review takes place. It will be a presentation of all theatre course work, project work, and realized designs completed during the first year of study (entrance portfolio materials are no longer required). It may also include any outside work completed during this time. As in the first review, areas of strength and/or weakness are addressed in detail for future course planning.

Third Review: At the end of autumn semester of the second year of study, the comprehensive portfolio review occurs. All completed course work, papers, projects, research materials, and realized designs are included. The evaluation also encompasses the growth of professional design skills and the performance of the responsibilities as a member of a production team. Successful completion of a third review is required before a student is permitted to begin their thesis project.

Portfolio Standards and Overall Content

1. All work should be clearly labeled to indicate the course or production, the date, the designer's name, and any additional necessary details.
2. Written work and scholarship should be shared to demonstrate accurate research and clear communication.
3. For realized designs and unrealized course design projects include:
 - a. a clear and concise written concept statement will be made available.

- b. all research materials, visual and otherwise, demonstrating the ability to conduct fruitful research and present findings in a method that communicates clearly.
 - c. sketches, drafts and early documentation of the design process.
 - d. all final design materials including all drawings, draftings, renderings, models, organizational paperwork, etc.
 - e. production photos from all realized designs.
4. All other work generated in courses or outside projects during the program should be included as well. These may include:
- a. examples of visual and graphic communication skills including painting, drawing, sketching, modeling, rendering, etc.
 - b. examples of technical and fabrication skills including sewing, rigging, programming, carpentry, alterations, metalwork, automation, systems engineering, etc.

Evaluation

In addition to providing verbal feedback and evaluation of a student's work in their review, each reviewer will also complete an evaluation form that provides written feedback for the student, assessment data for the program, and will be placed in the student's academic file.

Change in Program Emphasis

Any student wishing to change the area of design emphasis should make a formal request in writing to the design/technology area head after consulting the principal instructors of both areas of design emphasis. If the request is granted but additional enrollment beyond the three academic years is necessary, the student should be aware that GTA funding is not guaranteed.

Master of Arts

Each graduate student currently enrolled in the MA program is reviewed annually (early spring semester) by their advisor for academic progress and achievement. In addition, if the student has a graduate associate assignment, this review should include an evaluation from each faculty supervisor who oversees the student's work during the academic year. The results of the annual review are forwarded to the graduate faculty program head and, in turn, to the Director of Graduate Studies, who makes recommendations to the department chair. The annual review is a key measure of a student's degree progress, and it helps to determine whether or not a student should continue in the degree program. The review guides decisions for or against renewal of a graduate associate appointment for the following academic year. It also serves as one factor in recommendations for appropriate kinds of GA assignments. The following guidelines are intended to help the advisor and the student measure the student's progress towards the degree at the time of each year's annual review.

Schedule:

First Year

Coursework. The student has successfully completed required first term coursework and other Autumn semester elective courses, in line with the MA Advising Sheet (page 25). The student has successfully completed (or is in the process of completing) second term required coursework as well as other spring semester elective courses. The student is maintaining an average GPA of 3.0 or better.

Thesis Prospectus. In addition to choosing a thesis advisor from among the graduate faculty (most often the student's faculty advisor), the student has identified and obtained the consent of a second member of the graduate faculty to serve on the thesis committee as a second reader. The student has submitted a first (1st) draft of the prospectus to the thesis advisor and second reader and is on track to submit a final version by the final week of the Spring semester.

Graduate Associateship Assignments. The student has fulfilled their autumn semester GA assignment and is on track to fulfill their spring semester GA assignment. The student has at least one GA evaluation on file and has met all obligations to attend meetings and seminars associated with GA assignments. These guidelines do not apply to self-funded students or to students receiving fellowship funding.

Other Annual Review Expectations. In discussions with their advisor, the student has determined how the foreign language requirement will be fulfilled. The student has demonstrated satisfactory participation in seminars and colloquia organized by the students and faculty of the MA/PhD program as well as departmental events.

Second Year

Coursework. The student has successfully completed third term required coursework and other autumn semester elective courses, in line with the MA Advising Sheet (page 25). The student is on track to successfully complete all coursework required for the degree in the spring semester. The student is maintaining an average GPA of 3.0 or better.

Thesis Progress. The student has completed a full draft of the thesis and is scheduled to defend by the final week of the spring semester.

Graduate Associateship Assignments. The student has fulfilled their autumn semester GA assignment and is on track to fulfill their spring semester GA assignment. The student has at least two GA evaluations on file and has met all obligations to attend meetings and seminars associated with GA assignments. These guidelines do not apply to self-funded students or to students receiving fellowship funding.

Other Annual Review Expectations. The student has fulfilled the foreign language requirement (or has a plan to do so) by the end of the spring semester. The student has demonstrated satisfactory participation in seminars and colloquia organized by the students and faculty of the MA/PhD program as well as departmental events.

Doctor of Philosophy

Each graduate student currently enrolled in the PhD program is reviewed annually (early Spring semester) by their advisor for academic progress and achievement. In addition, if the student has a graduate associate assignment, this review should include an evaluation from each faculty supervisor who oversees the student's work during the academic year. The results of the annual review are forwarded to the graduate faculty area head and, in turn, to the Director of Graduate Studies, who makes recommendations to the department chair. The annual review is a key measure of a student's degree progress, and it helps to determine whether a student should continue in the degree program. The review guides decisions for or against renewal of a graduate associate appointment for the following academic year. It also serves as one (1) factor in recommendations for appropriate kinds of GA assignments. The following guidelines are intended to help the advisor and the student measure the student's progress towards the degree at the time of each year's annual review.

Schedule:

First Year

Coursework. The student has successfully completed required first term coursework and other Autumn semester elective courses, in line with the PhD Advising Sheet (page 28). The student is on track to successfully complete second term required coursework and other spring semester elective courses. The student is maintaining an average GPA of 3.0 or better.

Graduate Associateship Assignments. The student has fulfilled their autumn semester GA assignment and is on track to fulfill their spring semester GA assignment. The student has at least one (1) GA evaluation on file and has met all obligations to attend meetings and seminars associated with GA assignments. These guidelines do not apply to students receiving fellowship funding.

Other Annual Review Expectations. In discussions with their advisor, the student has demonstrated increasing clarity concerning the focus of their dissertation research and has determined how the production and the foreign language requirements will be fulfilled. The student has demonstrated satisfactory participation in seminars and colloquia organized by the students and faculty of the MA/PhD program as well as departmental events.

Second Year

Coursework. The student has successfully completed third term required coursework and other autumn semester elective courses, in line with the PhD Advising Sheet (page 28). The student is on track to successfully complete all coursework required before the Doctoral Candidacy Exam takes place in the third year. The student is maintaining an average GPA of 3.0 or better.

Candidacy Examination Preparation. In consultation with their advisor, the student has determined the three areas of specialization (one main area of specialization and two Supporting areas of specialization) in which they plan to be examined during the Autumn semester of the third year. The student has identified and obtained the consent of three members of the graduate faculty with whom they will take tutorials during the autumn semester of the third year and who will serve on the doctoral candidacy examination committee. The student is on track to finalize the three examination reading lists by the final week of the spring semester so that they are able to complete a substantial portion of the reading during the summer months.

Graduate Associateship Assignments. If not receiving fellowship funding, the student has fulfilled their Autumn semester GA assignment and is on track to fulfill their spring semester GA assignment. The student has at least two GA evaluations on file and has met all obligations to attend meetings and seminars associated with GA assignments. These guidelines do not apply to self-funded students or to students receiving fellowship funding.

Other Annual Review Expectations. In discussions with their advisor, the student has demonstrated increasing clarity concerning the focus of their dissertation research. The student has fulfilled the language requirement (or has a plan to do so) by the end of the spring semester. The student has fulfilled the production requirement (or has a plan to do so) by the end of the following academic year. The student has demonstrated satisfactory participation in seminars and colloquia organized by the students and faculty of the MA/PhD program as well as departmental events. Ideally, the student has begun to present research at national conferences and to apply for internal research grants.

Third Year

Doctoral Candidacy Examination. The student has passed the written and oral portions of the Doctoral Candidacy Examination by the end of the autumn semester or early spring semester. (The timing of the examination will impact enrollment requirements.)

Dissertation Prospectus. The candidate has identified and obtained the consent of three members of the graduate faculty members who will serve on the dissertation committee. The candidate is on track to submit a final version of a prospectus by the final week of the spring semester.

Graduate Associateship Assignments. The candidate has fulfilled their autumn semester GA assignment and is on track to fulfill their spring semester GA assignment. The candidate has at least three GA evaluations on file and has met all obligations to attend meetings and seminars associated with GA assignments. These guidelines do not apply to self-funded students or to students receiving fellowship funding.

Other Annual Review Expectations. The candidate has fulfilled the production requirement (or has a plan to do so) before the end of the Spring semester. The candidate has demonstrated satisfactory participation in seminars and colloquia organized by the students and faculty of the MA/PhD program as well as departmental events. Ideally, the candidate has submitted (or is preparing to submit) a book or performance review for a peer-reviewed journal.

Fourth Year

Dissertation Progress. The candidate has completed a minimum of two chapters and is on track to complete the remaining chapters by the end of the summer.

Graduate Associateship Assignments. The candidate has fulfilled their autumn semester GA assignment and is on track to fulfill their Spring semester GA assignment. The candidate has at least four GA evaluations on file and has met all obligations to attend meetings and seminars associated with GA assignments. These guidelines do not apply to self-funded students or to students receiving fellowship funding.

Other Annual Review Expectations. The candidate has demonstrated satisfactory participation in seminars and colloquia organized by the students and faculty of the MA/PhD program as well as departmental events. Ideally, the candidate has submitted (or is preparing to submit) an article to a peer-reviewed journal and has applied for both internal and external grants and fellowships to support research and writing.

Beyond the Fourth Year

If the dissertation requires additional time, the student should work closely with their advisor, committee members and the program coordinator to manage expectations for the time to complete the degree and department funding.

SECTION 7. DEPARTMENT PRODUCTIONS

7.1 STUDENT DIRECTORS

Graduate students seeking an opportunity to direct a production in the Department of Theatre, Film and Media Arts must:

- Talk with their advisor about their interests and reasons for wanting to direct a production. The advisor, who oversees progress towards the degree and annual review, must agree that the student could take on this additional responsibility.
- Respond by the announced deadline to any call for directing proposals from the department chair.
- Provide a written proposal (1-2 pages) to the department chair/producer that conveys the request for a directing position and reasons for seeking this assignment. A current CV or resume must be attached, including any information about previous directing experience.
- In order to qualify to direct, student must meet the following prerequisites:
 - Complete TH5111 (Advanced Directing) or have demonstrated professional experience.
 - Serve as stage manager, dramaturg, assistant stage manager, or assistant director for one of the department's mainstage productions or direct a Lab Series production.
- If selected to direct, student directors must follow the guidelines spelled out in the department's Production Handbook. Review this handbook carefully; it should answer most of your questions about production procedures and rules.
- During the semester of the production, student directors must register for three credits under 7000.18 (Practicum for Directors) with the relevant supervising faculty member. They must continue to be enrolled full-time, as per your GA assignment and your progress toward the degree.
- Meet with the faculty member who is assigned as mentor, supervisor, and consultant for the production. The grade for the directing project will be coordinated by this person, in consultation with the production team and the department chair.
- Waivers for any of the above requirements must be sought at the time during call for proposals and should not be issued once production meetings for the relevant production have begun. Waiver requests must be in writing so that they may be reviewed and approved by the advisor and the Director of Graduate Studies. Finally, the production committee for the relevant production and the department chair must agree to the waiver request. Otherwise, the above-listed requirements, rules, and guidelines apply for all directing projects.

7.2 STUDENT ACTORS (OUTSIDE OF THE ACTING PROGRAM)

Any graduate student who seeks an opportunity to act in a production in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts must:

- Talk with their advisor about their interests and reasons for wanting to act. The advisor, who oversees progress towards the degree and annual review, must agree that the student could take on this additional responsibility.
- Sign up for auditions and prepare according to the instructions posted on the audition notice board.
- Upon being cast in a role, students should ensure their schedule allows them to attend all rehearsals and performances. They must agree to be available for all rehearsals and performances before accepting a role.
- Register for 7000.08 (Acting Practicum) for three credit hours with the faculty director of the production.
- Participate in all activities required for the cast including, but not limited to, group warm-ups, rehearsals, performances, talkbacks, photo calls, and post-production meetings. Participation is mandatory.

7.3 STUDENT DRAMATURGS

A dramaturg is a theatre practitioner integral to the creative process of staging a theatrical work who nevertheless maintains a critical distance in order to serve as an outside eye on the production. Through various production responsibilities, the dramaturg may inform or support the choices taken by the director, actors, and stage designers. While a dramaturg's production responsibilities may vary widely in the professional world, in the Ohio State Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts dramaturgs are expected to be prepared to collaborate on:

- Research and Development—after reading the play and consulting with the director, compile a production notebook that usually includes a production history, reviews, academic studies, popular press articles, reproductions of images, and any other material that addresses both the culture in which the play was written and the historical/political/cultural circumstances addressed within the work. The notebook should inform and inspire the director, actors, and designers;
- New Play Dramaturgy—support the playwright with written or verbal responses to and questions about the play that fuel his/her creative process. Consider organizing a reading, when possible. Consider translating a play from a foreign language, if you are competent in one, and proposing it for a reading or production;
- Production Dramaturgy—make available the production history of the play, explore and present the world of the play to the production team, provide an overview of the critical reception of the play, assist the director in editing the script if needed, assist director in casting, attend an agreed-upon number of rehearsals and offer notes to the director;
- Arts in Education Dramaturgy—write and edit program material in consultation with the director, create a lobby display, organize and lead post-performance discussions, organize or participate in seminars or symposia related to the production, help create exhibits in the Thompson Library together with the curators of the Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee

Theatre Research Institute, prepare high school or college-level study guides;

A call for dramaturgs will be circulated annually. Once a dramaturg is appointed, the student will have preliminary meetings with each of the following:

- Faculty dramaturgy coordinator—determines credit hours and will serve as instructor of record for the appropriate practicum course.
- Director of the production—determines the particular dramaturgical needs of the production and discusses his/her ideas for a production concept with the dramaturg.
- Director, curator, or associate curator of the Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee Theatre Research Institute—assists the dramaturg in finding the appropriate resources.

While the contributions of the dramaturg will vary from production to production, the following is a list of the minimum requirements for successful completion of the dramaturgy assignment:

- The dramaturg collaborates on the entire production process. To meet this requirement dramaturgs should:
 - Attend as many production meetings as possible and present their work there
 - Be prepared to share findings of ongoing research
 - Keep track of deadlines and rehearsal schedules
 - Attend rehearsals as agreed upon and attend run-throughs as agreed on, serving as another "eye" for the director with regards to how his/her vision might best be realized
 - Keep track of the working script
 - Facilitate textual editing, cuts, or revisions
 - Identify translations and versions, as well as their strengths/weaknesses
 - Facilitate contextual/background research when needed such as
 - Producing a resource guide for the production team
 - Providing images, music, videos, internet sites, or reading materials for rehearsals
 - Researching specific references in the play
- The dramaturg moderates post-show discussions.
 - These "talkbacks" occur after the second (2nd) Thursday night performance. The talkback will be announced in the program and at the performance. The dramaturg reconvenes the audience members who stay for the discussion, introduces a guest respondent selected by the dramaturg in consultation with the department chair and director (giving a brief bio of the respondent's accomplishments), and then facilitates the discussion.
- The dramaturg creates a lobby display for the production.

- The display should appear at least twenty-four (24) days prior to opening. The display concept must be approved by the faculty dramaturgy coordinator, and installation should be approved and scheduled with the Drake Office.

In addition to the above standard requirements, the dramaturg also may be asked to assist in the following:

- Program note: If the director requests a program note, the dramaturg should offer his/her own ideas for the essay but accept that the director has final approval over the content of the note. Typically, notes might introduce the production concept and/or provide background about the play or playwright. Program notes must be approved by both the director and the dramaturgy coordinator before publication. The dramaturg must meet the production deadline for development of program materials.
- Study guide: The need for a study guide will be determined by the department chair in consultation with the box office manager. Study guides often include analysis of plot, character, and setting, as well as discussions of key themes and images. Information about the playwright and details about the production process may also be included. Keeping in mind the level of the intended student audience, dramaturgs may also offer lesson plans and discussion questions to help teachers organize a class centered on the play. A list of further readings and videos may also be included. Images can make the study guide livelier and timelines may help clarify historical events, either events in the world of the play or in the biography of the playwright.

SECTION 8. GUIDELINES FOR GRADUATE ASSOCIATE POSITIONS

Information on the selection of Graduate Associates can be found in Section 3.1 of this handbook. Additional information on Graduate Associateships is available in Section 9 of the Graduate School Handbook.

Graduate Associate Assignments

Graduate Associates in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts are assigned specific duties which may vary from term to term. Assignments may include:

- Teaching in small-group recitation sections in conjunction with large service courses (principally Theatre 2100 Introduction to Theatre and Theatre 2100 Online.
- Teaching independent sections of courses like Theatre 2811 Craft of Acting, Theatre 2367.01 Self Images: America on Stage, 1830 to the Present, 2367.02 African American Theatre History, 2367.03 Criticizing TV, Theatre 3731 Theatre History to Romanticism, Theatre 3732 Theatre History Realism to the Present, Theatre 3831 Movement and Voice
- Service as a studio assistant in design and technical production.
- School Tour Manager

Graduate associate assignments are based upon the needs of the department and upon an educational philosophy that graduate students should have experience in a range of theatre activities. Typical graduate associate assignments (50% appointments) are for an average of twenty hours per week throughout the semester. The twenty hours are not assigned for work on any individual research or production assignment that the graduate associate may be given as partial fulfillment of the degree requirements. Those individual assignments should receive specific credit under 7000-level practicum courses.

Graduate associate assignments are made each Spring for the following academic year by the department chair in consultation with each program faculty committee and the Director of Graduate Studies. Assignments are made following the teaching preparation plans outlined in Appendix A and consider the student interests, prior experience, academic progress, advisor recommendations, and departmental needs. Students with a specific pedagogical interest should discuss their teaching goals with their advisor early and often.

Once the assignments are announced for the upcoming semester, the graduate associate must make an appointment with the faculty supervisor of the assigned course or area to establish the precise work schedule for the upcoming semester. Specific assignments may vary within a semester due to unforeseen departmental needs and course enrollment minimums.

All Graduate Teaching Associates should regularly review the department's Instructional Policies and Procedures document, which is distributed at the beginning of each term.

If a student is assigned to teach a class other than 2100, they will need to discuss the syllabus and the textbook order with the course supervisor. Once the syllabus is approved and a textbook selection is made, the student will place the book order for the course. To get copies of the books as the instructor, the student will contact the publisher for desk copies and, if needed, get permission from the fiscal officer of the department to purchase copies for their use. Books cannot be purchased or refunded without getting this permission and paperwork confirmation in advance. All purchased books are the property of the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts and must be returned at the end of the teaching assignment.

Summer Appointments

Summer appointments are separate from the regular academic year. The Department Chair may invite applications for summer appointments if and when funding for those positions has been secured. Selection of graduate associates for the summer term will be made by the Department Chair.

Graduate Associate Statement of Duties and Responsibilities

Specific duties and responsibilities for each graduate associate assignment are provided in the Appendix of this handbook. Graduate associates should consult their supervisors for clarification on duties and responsibilities.

Stipend for Graduate Associate Positions

Graduate associates receive stipend checks on the last working day of the month from August through May. GAs on a nine-month appointment will receive one-half a month's paycheck in August and one-half in May. Additional increments may be added upon renewal of appointment for proven excellence of achievement and/or a higher level of responsibility. In addition to the stipend, graduate associates receive full or partial remission of general and instructional fees for each semester of registration. Summer appointments are made separately from the regular academic year.

GA Supervisors and Course Supervisors

Course supervisors are responsible for mentoring and managing GTAs teaching courses under them, assessment requirements as determined by the university, and two observations/feedback for GTAs. GTAs will have their teaching observed and responded to by their course supervisor at least twice during their first semester teaching a course, and once per semester thereafter. GTAs will also meet with their course supervisor regularly for assistance in lesson planning and teaching strategies. The GTA's faculty advisor must also visit and evaluate their student's teaching at least once per semester.

Procedures and Criteria for Evaluating and Reporting Graduate Associate Performance

Supervisor's reports for Graduate Associates should address how the student has met the established expectations for specific duties related to their job assignment. A progress check on contact hours (xx/200 for the semester) may be noted.

Each supervisor submits an annual review of each graduate associate to the student's academic advisor by February 1. This applies to all GAs working for the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts: in a teaching capacity, as a studio supervisor, at TRI, etc. Examples of the required forms for the GA reviews can be found online or through the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts main office.

Evaluations by the GA supervisor are a part of the department's annual reviews of all graduate students, monitored by the Director of Graduate Studies. More information about the Annual Academic Reviews can be found in Section VI.

Directed Teaching outside of the Graduate Associateship

Outside of their GA assignment, graduate students may also request the option of observing or assisting in a course for experience and course credit. These "Directed Teaching" assignments are made at the discretion of each faculty member and with the consent of the student's advisor. If a "Directed Teaching" arrangement is struck, students should enroll with the faculty member they will be observing or assisting in Theatre 8990: Directed Teaching for one to three (1-3) credit hours. Their responsibilities may range from pure observation to periodically leading instruction, in concert with the faculty member in question. Students undertaking Directed Teaching assignments may not, under any circumstances, be responsible for more than 20% of a course.

SECTION 9. ACTIVITIES AND ABSENCES REQUIRING DEPARTMENT APPROVAL

9.1 EXPECTATIONS FOR GRADUATE STUDENTS AND ASSOCIATES

Most Graduate students in the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts have two distinct roles within the department: student and employee.

As a student, your expectations for attendance and extra-curricular work may vary depending on the course(s) in which you are enrolled and your academic program. It is expected that all theatre students will remain on campus, attend classes, and complete all course work while in residence. (Residency requirements for each degree program are described in Section 4 of this handbook.) Any length of time away from the university may have a significant impact on academic performance, funding, and progress toward the degree.

As employees of the university, Graduate Associates must request approval for any absence, outside employment, or additional compensation. In cases of unexpected illness or emergency, where advance approval is not possible, the Graduate Associate must notify their supervisor and the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts Main Office of the absence as soon as possible.

Advance approval may also be required for students who wish to take on extra-curricular projects and outside employment that do not require an absence from specific university commitments. Students should discuss all long-term extra-curricular activities with their advisor to determine the effect on the degree program and whether an official approval is required. Official approval is always required for students on departmental funding.

9.2 EXTRA-CURRICULAR APPROVAL (INCLUDING OUTSIDE EMPLOYEMENT)

A graduate associate (50%) who is considering additional employment or teaching outside the Department of Theatre, Film, and Media Arts or scholarly or creative activities outside of their assigned duties (i.e., in local or regional theatres, the Lab Series, lectures for local organizations, etc.) must request permission to participate in the opportunity. Extra-Curricular Approval forms are available online or from the Department office. Issues of impact on the student's academic program and teaching responsibilities will be considered. Requests for such authorization must be made at least two (2) weeks prior to the start of any activity.

Approval Application Procedures

The student should discuss the opportunity first (1st) with the work supervisor and academic advisor. Following that discussion, the student submits an Extra-Curricular and Research Project Approval Request Form detailing the specifics of the employment/other opportunity, including:

- a description of the opportunity and rationale for involvement
- impact on course work, including exams and projects
- a statement verifying that for each class the student is currently enrolled in, the student has discussed the opportunity with the professor and clearly understand the make-up work policy
- impacts on the GA/GTA assignment
- proposed departure and return dates, if any

The online form is available at <https://theatreandfilm.osu.edu/current-students/current-graduate-students>.

The academic advisor signs off on the proposal and forwards the request to the appropriate committee for evaluation and approval.

This process is in support of best practices in graduate advising (see Section 5) to make sure that students and advisors are communicating well.

9.3 RELIGIOUS HOLIDAYS

Students who miss classes because of the observance of religious holidays may not be penalized on this account and should be given ample opportunity to make up the missed work. Faculty should not schedule examinations on designated religious holidays or on the calendar day following the designated holidays. Designated Holidays are Rosh Hashanah (2 days), Yom Kippur, Good Friday and Easter Sunday. A year-by-year listing of primary sacred times of world religions can be found at <http://www.interfaith-calendar.org/>.

9.4 ILLNESS

Each professor sets his/her own policy regarding absence from class. Generally, this is very restricted for graduate study. A certified note from health officials or the Office of Disability Services may be required. Please refer to the Graduate School Handbook for additional guidelines for short-term absences and leave of absence for graduate students appointed as graduate associates, fellows, and trainees.

If a Graduate Associate must miss a class they are scheduled to teach due to unexpected illness or emergency, the GA must notify the course supervisor and the Academic Program Coordinator as soon as possible. The Graduate Associate should, in consultation with the course supervisor, identify a colleague to cover the class. If the class must be cancelled, the Graduate Associate should notify all students and the Academic Program Coordinator before the class is scheduled to begin.

9.5 EARLY DEPARTURE

It is expected that all theatre students will remain on campus, attend classes, and complete all course work for each semester. All teaching and non-teaching assignments held by graduate students run until each is released by completion of both coursework and their GA/GTA contract (if applicable) or by approval through the Extra-Curricular Approval form. Requests for early departure must be made well in advance, preferably no later than the semester preceding the departure request. All GA/GTA and fellowship students are required to remain in residency through the end of final exams.

9.6 ABSENCE DUE TO RESEARCH OR CREATIVE RESPONSIBILITIES

Students who need to miss classes or GA responsibilities (including meetings as well as class periods) due to conference presentation, research trip, etc. must not only complete the Extracurricular and Research Project approval, they must also clear this proposed absence with their course supervisor and advisor. Failure to do so will be reflected on their annual evaluation.

MA/PhD students teaching online courses may be eligible for up to one month of research leave while teaching during the year. MA/PhD teaching an in-person course may be eligible for up to one week of research leave per semester. Petitions for research leave will be considered by the faculty and considered on their merits. Approved petitions for research leave submitted through the Department's Extracurricular and Research Project Approval process have no effect on the required course load for graduate students.

Due to the nature of the obligations and responsibilities of student in the MFA programs, requests for extended absences due to research or creative responsibilities are generally not approved. All petitions are subject to review by the appropriate faculty.

SECTION 10. ACADEMIC PETITION PROCEDURES

Petitions for changes to a graduate student's plan of study must have the approval of the student's advisor. These recommendations will be forwarded to the graduate faculty of the area affected. This petition should take the form of a letter drafted by the advisor requesting specific changes to the program of study. This letter will bear the signature of the student and the advisor. Once reviewed by pertinent area faculty, this is forwarded to the Director of Graduate Studies for their review and approval.

The Director of Graduate Studies will determine whether the recommendation follows departmental and university standards. Should problems arise with compliance of the recommendations to these standards, the Director of Graduate Studies will refer the recommendations to the faculty committee for curriculum, which will make its decision in compliance with departmental and university guidelines and requirements.

SECTION 11. GRIEVANCES

The faculty are charged with reviewing and evaluating any grievances from (or involving) a graduate student. If the following process is not followed the grievance may not be considered.

- 1) Informal resolution
 - a) If the grievance concerns a problem with a GTA assignment or a specific course, the student must first meet with the course supervisor or instructor in order to resolve the matter. Then, if necessary, the student should consult their advisor.
 - b) Before filing a formal grievance, the graduate student who has a grievance must first meet with their advisor to seek informal resolution.
 - c) If the grievance cannot be resolved at this level, the student may request a meeting with the program head. Before meeting with the program head, the student must set forth his/her grievance in writing.
 - d) The program head will meet with the student in order to discuss steps to resolve the grievance.
- 2) Formal resolution
 - a) If the program head believes that it is not appropriate to reach an informal resolution, the program head will put the written grievance before the program faculty at its next scheduled meeting.
 - b) The program faculty will either recommend steps to address the grievance or dismiss the grievance. The program faculty's decision will be made in writing and emailed to the student by the program head within twenty-four (24) hours of the committee's meeting.
 - c) The student may appeal the program faculty's decision to the Director of Graduate Studies. The appeal must be in writing and must be filed with the Director of Graduate Studies within fourteen (14) days after the committee's decision was emailed.

- d) In turn, if necessary, the student may request a meeting with the Director of Graduate Studies, who may decide to put the grievance before the Graduate Studies Committee for review and decision. The results of the decision are reported to the student, the student's advisor, the program head, and the department chair.
- e) If the matter requires a review by the full Graduate Studies Committee, a meeting will be called by the department chair. Once a decision has been reached by the Graduate Studies Committee, the department chair will communicate these findings in writing to the person with the grievance.
- f) If the concerns cannot be resolved internally within the department, the graduate student is encouraged to contact the assistant dean for graduate studies within the College of Arts and Sciences. In situations where the student believes the issue has not been resolved within the College, they can request further review from the Graduate School. Graduate Student Grievance Review Guidelines are available in the Graduate Schools' Graduate Handbook.

If the student's advisor and the subject of the complaint is one and the same, the student should proceed to the next person in the chain of communication.

Chain of communication:

1. GA Supervisor (If applicable)
2. Advisor
3. Program head
4. Director of Graduate Studies

The Graduate and Professional Student Ombudsperson is also a resource available to students considering a grievance or who need additional support in addressing issues and challenges faced within the university. More information about the Graduate and Professional Student Ombudsperson and available resources may be found online at <https://ombuds.osu.edu/grad-ombuds>.

In accordance with university policy, complaints of harassment, sexual or otherwise, and allegations of scholarly misconduct are directed to the appropriate offices authorized to address them. Complaints involving discrimination, harassment or sexual misconduct are reported to the Office of Institutional Equity, while allegations of scholarly misconduct are reported to the Committee on Academic Misconduct or the Office of Research Compliance.

APPENDIX C: WRITING STYLE GUIDE

Rhetorical Awareness	Student persuasively articulates a clear purpose and recognizes the expectations that an audience or readership might have for the product or performance within a particular context.	Articulates a clear purpose, and shows some recognition of the audience and context for the product or performance.	Articulates purpose somewhat clearly, but is unpersuasive and does not adequately take into account potential audiences or contexts for the product or performance.	Purpose is unclear and the student shows little recognition of audience or context.
Personal and Productive Engagement with Subject	Student not only follows the basic requirements for an assignment, but demonstrates a serious, thoughtful and studied engagement with the project or performance.	Follows basic requirements for the assignment. While some components of the project may be lacking, the work demonstrates progress in central learning objectives during the period of the course	Only nominally follows basic requirements for the assignment, and shows a passing engagement with the project.	Does not follow basic requirements for the assignment, and shows little or no engagement with the project.
Creativity and Originality	Student articulates original ideas, positioning them within a range of differing perspectives. Moves beyond mere description and summary to analysis and critique.	States ideas that are original, and may reference a few differing perspectives. Does more than describe and summarize, but analysis and critique may not be sufficient.	States ideas that are obvious or cliché, offering few differing perspectives, if any. Does little more than describe and summarize the ideas of others.	Restates obvious ideas from one or two sources, and fails to reference differing positions. Merely describes and summarizes the ideas of others.
Central Claim supported by Appropriate Evidence	Student marshals appropriate evidence to support claims in sophisticated ways. Critically evaluates evidence and counter evidence, clearly documenting sources according to expected conventions and acknowledging intellectual debts.	Marshals appropriate evidence competently. Evaluates some evidence and counter evidence, and documents sources according to expected conventions.	Supports some claims with evidence, but fails to sufficiently evaluate that evidence or present counter evidence. May only use the bare number of sources required by the assignment. Sources may be documented incompletely or unclearly.	Fails to support claims with appropriate evidence or evidence is unclear or not relevant. Student takes evidence at face value and does not properly document sources.
Organization and Logic	Student arranges material in a clear, persuasive way that an audience or readership can follow. Does not resort to logical fallacies and the connections between points are evident and strengthen the overall claims of the work.	Arranges material clearly so that an audience or readership can follow reasonably well. The connections between most points are clear, though there are occasional gaps in thinking.	Fails to arrange material in a way that audiences or readers will follow easily. Several connections between points are unclear and there are several gaps in thinking.	Material is poorly organized, and audiences or readers may have a very hard time following the student's ideas and arguments. Connections between ideas are unclear and there are numerous gaps in thinking.
Effective Understanding and Application of Conventions	Student has carefully and thoughtfully proofread his or her work according to appropriate stylistic conventions. There should be few or no mistakes in spelling, grammar, word choice, and punctuation.	Work generally proofread, but some conventions have not been followed. There are more than a few mistakes in spelling, grammar, word choice, or punctuation, but these mistakes don't obscure the student's ideas.	Work has not been well proofread, and several important stylistic conventions are not followed. There are several distracting mistakes in spelling, grammar, word choice, or punctuation that may obscure the student's ideas.	Work has been poorly proofread, and stylistic conventions are not followed in any way.
